Old John Brown: A Song for Every Southern Man

Now all you Southern people, just listen to ray song, It's about the Harpers' Ferry affair, it is not very long.

To please you all I do my best, I sung it in other towns,
And while I am in Richmond, I'll tell you about old Brown.

Chorus. Old Ossawattomio Brown ! old Ossawattomic Brown !

*That will never pay,
Trying to come away down South,
And run the niggers away.*

Old Brown and Cook, and a dozen more, to Harpers' Ferry went,
They got into the arsinel there, they did not have no right;
Old Governor Wise heard of this, he started from Richmond town,
He went to Harpers' Ferry, and there he caught old Brown.

Chorus

They took him down to Charlestown, and into prison throw'd him;
They put two chains upon his legs, Oh yes ! it was to hold him,
They put two chains upon his legs and two upon his arms,
The virdict of the jury was, old Brown he should be hung.

Chorus

Cook and Coppie were in prison, they thought about escaping,
They got upon the wall, but they could not save their bacon!
The guard he saw them up there, at them throw'd his pill
OKI Cook tumbled over just like he had been killed.

Chorus

Now they all are dead and gone to heaven some do say,
The angels standing at the gate to drive them right away;
The devil standing down below, he calls them for to come,
It's no use now old John Brown, you can't get a chance to run.

Chorus

Now all you Southern people a little advice I give;
Patronize the South and the State in which you live;
And not unto Northern people your money never pay,
They have their agents in the South, to run your slaves away.

Chorus

Now all you Southern darkies, a word to you I'll say; Always mind your masters, and never run away.
And don't mind these Northern agents, they tell to you a lie.
They get you at the North, and starve you 'till you die.

Chorus
